

iPAQ Case - A Luxury Item Or A Can't Do Without Important Accessory?

So you want on and purchased that iPAQ you always dreamed of. Good for you. Now you really need to start thinking about getting a proper case for your iPAQ pocket pc. Why a special case? What's wrong with the standard case they gave you when you bought the machine, or maybe go without one at all?

Here are a few compelling reasons why we all need to put our HP iPAQ's in cases:

- 1.They are vulnerable. A pocket pc is a delicate instrument, that can be harmed if it gets hit, or dropped to the floor. Also - the screen can be easily scratched.
- 2.Humidity and wetness. Never forget that a PDA is an electronic device. With many people taking their PDA's out to lunch, getting some coffee spilt on your iPAQ is defiantly a possibility. So you want to protect them against these kind of accidents.
- 3.It looks better- if you are grooming a business or professional career, be aware that everything about you should project professionalism. An good looking PDA case will help you make that impression upon your surroundings.

I hope you are convinced by now as to how important it is to put a case around your iPAQ. Basicall, there are two types of cases: soft cases (leather, nylon), and hard (metal, plastic). Let's look at a few examples of good looking as well as practical case types:

1. Leather Wallet HP iPAQ - this case is a soft, leather like case. It will make your iPAQ look like an expensive wallet. The case also has room for other document, money, id's etc. You can use this case to take over your existing wallet and make room for you PDA as well. This can be a smart move.
2. Metal Deluxe Case - made of anodized aircraft grade aluminum. This material is scratch proof and can be the best protection available for your PDA. It's also stainless and un breakable. This case will protect your iPAQ investment.
3. Black Leather Open Face Case for hp iPAQ - This case is probably the most practical of them all. The case is crafted of premium leather, provides protection to you PDA, and the screen and keyboeard are covered with transparent plastic, so you can use your iPAQ without getting it out of the case. Case also has holes or cut-outs for headphones, buttons, loudspeakers etc ensures that none of the PDA's functions is lost when in the case.

These are just a few examples of from the vast world of PDA cases. So you have no problem what so ever to get yourself one of those cases and protect your investment. Be sure you or so you won't regret it later.

Source: <http://www.articlecircle.com>

About the Author

Ron Heller is the owner and operator of the website pda online center - <http://www.pdaonlinecenter.com> devoted to PDA's, PDA accessories, PDA computers and more