

Clothes for Small Dogs

My sister has an adorable little chihuahua named Tinkerbelle, named after Paris Hilton's famous pet. Tinkerbelle is tiny, affectionate and faithful, however, she is definitely like any dog we've ever encountered before. She is more similar to a very spoiled, yet fashionable child. Her wardrobe of small dog clothes is so extensive that she puts my modest collection of clothing to shame.

Thanks to my sister's keen fashion sense, Tinkerbelle is up to the minute with the latest trends and hottest fashions. She wouldn't be caught dead in last season's colors or be seen wearing an uncoordinated sweater while being transported in an unmatching carrier bag. She would simply die!!

My sister is constantly shopping for small dog clothes. She absolutely has to stop at every single pet store that falls in her path. Recently, she came out to visit us. We had to go grocery shopping and she agreed to come along (with Tinkerbelle cleverly concealed of course!) However, we had barely made it out the door when my sister just had to make a detour - she'd spotted a new pet shop en route to the grocery store, and she was dying to take a peek to see if they had any small dog clothes or accessories, that might be unavailable in the stores closer to home.

Out of all of Tinkerbelle's clothing, the one outfit I love the best is her wooly, pink parka with the faux fur trim around the hood. However, Tinkerbelle has chosen a favorite doggy clothing item all her own. An ensemble that makes her absolutely wriggle with excitement - a poufy, pink ballerina tutu!! It's absolutely ridiculous and yet, when Tinkerbelle is wearing that obscenity, she poses and struts like nobody's business. She's hot stuff, cute as a button and quite simply adorable... and she knows it!

Small dog clothes are one of today's hottest fashion trends among pet owners... especially young women. Celebrities such as Paris Hilton and Britney Spears are definitely driving forces behind this phenomenon, with their own signature pets and matching designer outfits. However, the average person might be at a loss as to where to shop, when looking for outfits for the special friend in their life. Not surprisingly, today's retailers seem to be hot on the pet fashion trail with small dog clothes and fashion accessories being found in nearly every pet store and even in most department stores that carry a pet department.

Source: <http://www.articlecircle.com>

About the Author

John Pawlett runs an informative dog site that looks into all aspects of dog ownership from training to health, feeding to fashion. To find out more visit <http://www.bestdogsite.com> or <http://www.acedogs.com>