

Dude Ranch Family Vacation: Old-West Fun!

A dude ranch family vacation may just well be the perfect vacation idea for you. Horseback riding, swimming pools, and multiple other activities make these resorts excellent places for you to take your kids on your next adventure. Here's everything you need to know:

All You Need in One Location

Nearly every dude ranch will offer everything you need for your vacation: lodging, food, and plenty of entertainment for people of all ages. This eliminates the need for things like hotels and other accommodations. Additionally, these resorts will typically give you a taste for what it was like living in the old-west; something theme parks cannot do.

Travel Tips

Here are some tips for making this vacation as good as it can be. If you want to go to one of these relatively inexpensive resorts, you should decide if you are going by plane or car. My suggestion would be to take a car, as driving will likely be a more low-cost travel solution than flying.

On your way there, pick up some travel games for the kids to play to keep them entertained, so you can focus all of your attention on getting your family to your destination quickly and safely. Additionally, because vacations of this nature have so much to offer, try to spend as little money on your way there as possible.

When to Go

Dude ranches are excellent places to go, any time of year, even on the holidays. A holiday vacation may be a great thing to help you relax and avoid the hustle and bustle of daily life. Summer months are probably the best time to go, though, as it is the tourist season in most locations meaning there will be more to do during these months. Additionally, summer months are the most promising for plenty of outdoor activities, especially swimming.

Consider This

When you are trying to think of affordable family vacation ideas, a dude ranch is probably the best way to go. Although other vacation ideas may be cheaper, a dude ranch offers so much to do that children and adults alike will have an amazing time. Think of it this way: the true value of a vacation is in the strength of the memories it offers.

Because a vacation typically lasts only a week or two, to truly get your money's worth, you want these two weeks to be a time period that you can talk about for years to come. What better way to ensure that your vacation will be memorable than taking your family to a place that they will enjoy so much, they will want to visit again and again.

Keep in mind that a vacation at a resort such as a dude ranch may not be for everyone. After all, not everyone is fond of horseback riding, the primary appeal of these resorts. However, if this vacation sounds like an experience you want to have, I suggest contacting a travel agent right away to get started.
