

Don't Have Enough Budget for Diamond Rings, Then Here are Some Alternatives

There are various alternatives for the diamond. Today there two Diamond alternatives for the real diamond; one of them is moissanite and other is the cubic zirconia. Both of these Diamond alternatives have their own advantages and disadvantages.

It depends on the buyer to choose the jewel, so that it suits their budget and fulfils the desire of the real diamond. Normally these diamond alternatives are manufactured either from moissanite material or from the cubic moissanite jewel. There is a diamond alternative for the pure diamond and that is a diamond hybrid in which both jewels are used in rings. Engagement rings are cheap in price and with beautiful designs, at the same time they are just as attractive in nature when compared to diamond rings.

These 'diamond alternative' or the 'diamond hybrid' rings can be of platinum metal and are loved by women! Platinum rings are commonly worn all over the world. Even though platinum is slightly higher in cost but has longer lasting capabilities when compared to the other metals such as gold and silver. Diamond hybrid rings are suited for all the occasions and functions.

The other stone that is widely used in 'diamond alternative' rings is moissanite.

This moissanite stone has various advantages such as it is a natural material, it is cheaper than a diamond and available in various shapes and sizes as they are designed in the laboratories. The other advantage is the hardness of the moissanite that is almost equal to the diamond. This is the same case in platinum moissanite stones and they are the best 'diamond alternatives' as it has various impressive designs and longer durability. Platinum is silver in its appearance and it's durability and shine are impressive.

'Diamond hybrid' moissanite stone can be larger in size when compared to a common diamond stone. It provides a new and elegant approach in 'diamond alternative' engagement rings. This new look is becoming more popular in today's fashion.

These 'diamond alternative' or the 'diamond hybrid' rings resemble pure diamond rings and are very difficult to distinguish between the two. Even trained professionals in the jewelry industry find it difficult to separate between them. These rings are the best option to the 'diamond alternative' rings. Both cubic zirconia and moissanite are precious jewels and can be used in designing beautiful jewelry. But with respect to moissanite the cubic zirconia has a wide market in the field of 'diamond hybrid' as they are cheaper in cost and are easy to maintain. The other important factor is that the color of cubic zirconia 'diamond alternative' does not fade away easily and remains for longer duration.

The other 'diamond hybrid' that provides varieties of articles is the moissanite diamond ring. It contains diamonds around the moissanite and is beautiful to look at. These moissanite 'diamond alternative' rings are perfect for any occasion with vast selection of styles and choices such as wedding rings, anniversary rings and the various engagement rings.

These rings or the pendants can be manufactured two ways; one of them by machine manufacturing and the other being hand crafted. The hand crafted ring provides a stunning and marvelous look when compared to the machine crafted rings.

Source: <http://www.articlecircle.com>

About the Author

<http://www.buydiamondhybrid.com>