

Nike Women's Basketball Shoes Are The Choice Of USA

Nike does it again with their Shox line of footwear. Nike Shox shoes, sneaker, and clogs defy the laws of physics by giving you an unnatural amount of bounce in your step. Yet at the same time, they help absorb all the pressure when you come down. Ideally designed for athletes seeking that ultimate edge over their competition. They have over 60 different types of Nike Shox shoes for men, women, and kids.

The Nike Shox 2:45 offers the best of both worlds: a fusion of Nike Shox? technology with Zoom Air? cushioning. You get the same buoyancy of the Nike Shox columns but with a special low-profile response typically found in Nike Air Zoom shoes. Available for men and women.

The Nike women's basketball shoes are a great fashion statement. Several top women basketball players use Nike shoes to play WNBA and NCAA games. Women in other walks of life also use these shoes because they are lightweight and well cushioned.

The most popular of Nike's basketball shoes are the Dunk series. These basketball shoes were introduced in 1985, and became a rage in most American campuses. Nike attributes a part of the success of these shoes to the highly successful sponsorship campaign that it launched at that time targeting American colleges.

The result was that Nike Dunks in their flashy colors became a major fashion symbol across the nation. In fact, they became the forerunner of the crazy basketball-style shoes that swamped the market in the nineties. The Dunks were re-released in 1998, and this time they have caught the fancy of skaters too! The Nike Dunk series has two models. These are: Dunk Low, which costs $65, and Dunk Pro Low, which is priced at $31.99.

Another Nike basketball shoe that won loud acclaim is Air Taurasi. This shoe, according to Nike, has been built for the energetic and dominating style of play of Diana Taurasi. The shoe has a full-grain leather and synthetic leather upper with heel TPU for increased support and lockdown, full-length polyurethane midsole, and a durable solid rubber outsole with herringbone and nubs for enhanced traction.

The Air Taurasis are available in several color combinations. These include: black/metallic silver, white/metallic silver-midnight navy, white/metallic silver-black, white/metallic silver-varsity red and white/metallic silver-varsity royal.

Besides this, Nike has a range of women's Shox Revolution basketball shoes. These shoes are considered most suitable for those women players who are looking for the best in lightweight support and responsive cushioning. These shoes come in a combination of white, orange and silver colors. Their prices range from $85 to $100.
