

Halloween Candy – Become Cool With Frightening Candy Treats

Bring on the skeletons, ghosts, and oogie boogies! Dawn those costumes and dark colors. And always remember the scary candy! Halloween is a time of year to have fun and "trick or trick". The celebration of Halloween began thousands of years ago. It has been influenced by many diverse cultures, such as Christian, Roman, and Celtic. Halloween is not just a holiday for children in the USA, adults get into the holiday with childlike enthusiasm, too.

Kids Desire That Scary Rush

Kids love Halloween; they love everything about it- dressing up in scary costumes, waiting for dark, and going door-to-door to get candy- kids just can't resist the allure of Halloween. Halloween parties often include things such as costume contests, pumpkin carving contests, apple bobbing, and other Halloween themed activities. How can you make sure your candies are the best and most horrifying in the neighborhood?

Cockroaches covered with chocolate, bleeding skulls, and juicy worms are some of the treats children love. You will be deemed the coolest of cool if your Halloween candy ranks high on the scare-o-meter!

If you want your house to be the envy of the neighborhood, follow these simple tips:

1. Albert's Candy has a vast array of unique and scary candies. They always have a wide selection of candies to choose from, but the Skeleton Candy coffins are considered the most sought after. Fear Factor Candy is featured also, if you know the TV show, then you know it will be a hit. Everyone loves Harry Potter these days, so why not offer Harry Potter Cockroach clusters and Harry Potter Chocolate frogs? These will delight kids and adults alike!
2. Some honestly creepy treats are made by brands like Foreign Candy and Generation Candy. Gummy brown earthworms and Boogeyman Halloween lollipops are just a few of the ghoulish goodies they have to offer. You can also offer up alien drool and brain dips - the kids love them! If those don't tickle your fancy, why not give out some of the ever-popular gummy candies? There are several types of gummy candies to choose from, including: gummy snakes, rats, spiders, and bats.
3. If you prefer the more traditional gummy bears, the kids will enjoy those as well. Vidal's gummi flies, fried eggs and snails are a unique type of gummi treat, just for you! They make original gummies look tame by comparison.
4. HotLix will work as a great brand for the children that you know, who are open to new things. Tasty chocolate covered cockroaches and candy crickets are some of their special treats. They offer other horribly delicious delectables like Sour Gummy Vampire bats, Gummy Fangs, Gummy Brains, Gummy Finger puppets, Oozing eyeballs candy, Spooky eyeball gumballs, Creepy peepers filled chocolate eyeballs and spooky Halloween lollipops.
5. Black candy is always good to hand out on Halloween, as it is the official color of this special day. Here are a few ideas: black licorice candy, black gummy penguins, black licorice cats, and black licorice wheels are always Halloween appropriate.

To be a hit on Halloween, drop the old standard candies like snickers, M&Ms, and candy corn, and go for something more interesting. The scary looking candy will attract more ghosts and goblins than you'll know what to do with!

Source: <http://www.articlecircle.com>

About the Author

Christopher Pratt is the Candy Man of Candywarehouse.com and selects all the scary candy treats. In the Halloween candy section you'll find all the cool candy mentioned here or the basics for decorating such as candy corn, orange candy and black candy.